"Ladies in Waiting!"

SATURDAY 2 SEPTEMBER 2017

It is Saturday 2 September 1931. Passengers are boarding the 7.30pm Kidderminster to Bridgnorth express, each with their own reasons for travelling. For Sir Oswald Flint, the reason is simply that he is travelling home after a morning of business meetings and an afternoon in the arms of one of his numerous lovers. For many years he has successfully juggled his complicated love-life but tonight his world is about to fall apart as his wife and several of his paramours come unexpectedly face to face and confront him with the undeniable truth! Voices are raised, tempers run high and violence bubbles below the surface! A foul murder is the conclusion! But who will die and who will be the perpetrator?

It is fortunate then that a Detective Inspector Alfred Crowther should be boarding the train at Bridgnorth after a long and tedious day at Bridgnorth Police Station, on his way home to Arley. Unfortunately for him is the fact that a policeman is never truly off duty and, confronted with a murder, he has no alternative to taking charge and commencing an investigation. You may rest assured that the Inspector will leave no stone unturned as he questions the suspects which will eventually lead him to the apprehension of the perpetrator of this heinous crime.

So join us and dine in fine style as we travel along the picturesque Severn valley aboard an authentic steam train of the period. Enjoy the camaraderie and banter with your fellow passengers as a foul and brutal murder takes place before your very eyes and you are invited to assist Inspector Crowther bring the guilty to justice.
